SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1874.

EMANCIPATION.

THE EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION IN THE CABINET. THE LATE CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE DESCRIBES THE SCENE IN WHICH IT WAS READ.

Mr. Chase gives, in his diary, the following account of the emancipation proceedings in the cabinet September 22, 1862:

"To department about nine. State Department messenger came with notice to heads of departments to meet at twelve. Received sundry callers. Went to the White House. All the members of the cabinet were in attendance. There was some general talk, and the President mentioned that Artemus Ward had sent him his book. Proposed to read a chapter which he thought very funny. Read it, and seemed to enjoy it very much: the heads also, (except Stanton). The chapter was 'High Handed Outrage at Utica.'

The President then took a graver tone and said, 'Gentlemen, I have, as you are aware, thought a great deal about the relation of this war to slavery, and you all remember that, several weeks ago, I read to you an order I had prepared upon the subject, which, on account of objections made by some of you, was not issued. Ever since then my mind has been occupied with this subject, and I have thought all along that the time for acting on it might probably come. I think the time has come now. I wish it was a better time. I wish that we were in a better condition. The action of the army against the rebels has not been quite what I should have best liked. But they have been driven out of Maryland, and Pennsylvania is no longer in danger of invasion. When the rebel army was at Frederick I determined as soon as it should be driven out of Maryland, to issue a proclamation of emancipation, such as I thought most likely to be useful. I said nothing to any one, but I made a promise to myself and [hesitating a little] to my Maker. The rebel army is now driven out and I am going to fulfil that promise. I have got you together to hear what I have written down. I do not wish your advice about the main matter, for that I have determined for myself. This I say without intending anything but respect for any one of you. But I already know the views of each on this question. They have been heretofore expressed, and I have considered them as thoroughly and carefully as I can. What I have written is that which my reflections have determined me to say. If there is anything in the expressions I use or in any other matter which any one of you thinks had best be changed, I shall be glad to receive your suggestions. One other observation I will make, I know very well that many others might, in this matter as in others, do better than I can, and if I was satisfied that the public confidence was more fully possessed by any one of them than by me, and knew of any constitutional way in which he could be put in my place, he should have it. I would gladly yield it to him. But though I believe that I have not so much of the confidence of the people as I had some time since, I do not know that, all things considered, any other person has more, and, however this may be, there is no way in which I can have any other man put where I am. I am here. I must do the best I can, and bear the responsibility of taking the course which I feel I ought to take.

The President then proceeded to read his Emancipation Proclamation, making remarks on the several points as he went on, and showing that he had fully considered the subject in all the lights under which it had been presented to him.

After he had closed Governor Seward said, 'The general question having been decided, nothing can be said further about that. Would it not, however, make the proclamation more clear and decided to leave out all reference to the act being sustained during the incumbency of the President: and not merely say that the government 'recognizes,' but that it will maintain the freedom it proclaims?'

I followed, saying, 'What you have said Mr. President, fully satisfies me that you have given to every proposition which has been made a kind and candid consideration. And we have now expressed the conclusion to which you have arrived clearly and distinctly. This it was your right, and, under your oath of office, your duty to do. The proclamation does not, indeed, mark out the course I would myself prefer; but I am ready to take it just as it is written and to stand by it with all my heart. I think, however, the suggestions of Governor Seward very judicious, and shall be glad to have them adopted.'

President then asked us severally our opinions as to the modifications proposed, saying that he did not care much about the phrases he had used. Every one favored the modification, and it was adopted. Governor Seward then proposed that in the passage relating to colonization some language should be introduced to show that the colonization proposed was to be only with the consent of the colonists and the consent of the states in which the colonies might be attempted. This, too, was agreed to; and no other modification was proposed. Mr. Blair then said that the question having been decided, he would make no objection to issuing the proclamation; but he would ask to have his paper, presented some days since, against the policy, filed with the proclamation. The President consented to this readily. And then Mr. Blair went on to say that he was afraid of the influence of the proclamation on the border states and on the army; and stated at some length the grounds of his apprehensions. He disclaimed most expressly, however, all objections to emancipation per se, saying he had always been personally in favor of it always ready for immediate emancipation in the midst of slave states, rather than submit to the perpetuation of the system."

TWENTY MINUTES IN A MILL WHEEL.—Mr. Allen, a miller of Cape Formentine, Ontario, was at work in his mill recently, with his three year old daughter playing near by. After a while he missed her, but supposing that she was playing somewhere about the building and would soon return, he felt no particular anxiety, until nearly half an hour had elapsed, when it occurred to him that he had better see where she was. In his search he happened to look into the mill-wheel, and noticed what he supposed was a piece of stick protruding from one of the vents. The wheel is what is termed a "Parker" wheel, and had at the time a strong head of water on. The mill was stopped, and to Mr. Allen's horror, what he had thought was a piece of stick proved to be his daughter's leg, much discolored and badly bruised. The agony of the father may be imagined, as he hastened to rescue what he supposed must be her lifeless body. A stave was removed from the wheel, and the child taken out. She was found badly bruised about the body and lower extremities, but alive and being carefully rubbed and otherwise treated, she was soon out of danger. What made the escape the more extraordinary is the fact that the child was drawn through the flume, into which she must have fallen 10 feet before passing into the wheel, in which she was whirled round for a period of fully 20 minutes.

THE POLICE AND THE TURKISH LADIES.—The differences between "the police and the public," elsewhere are slight compared with the difference between the police and the Turkish ladies at Constantinople. The police in that city are constantly issuing orders for the guidance of the Turkish ladies, which the latter treat with the most sublime contempt. For some time past Turkish ladies residing near the European suburbs of Constantinople have made a habit of enjoying a daily drive up and down the Taxim road, which skirts the grounds of the Cafe du Croissant on the one side and the Artillery Barracks on the other. On Friday afternoons especially there is often a brilliant collection of carriages circulating at this spot and a numerous gathering of pedestrians assembled to gaze at their fair Turkish occupants. The Ministry of Police has just issued a strict order forbidding the resort of this public promenade to Turkish ladies in carriages. It is not, however, expected that any attention will be paid to this order. A similar prohibition was issued some time ago, but does not appear to have had much effect. The hanoums, says the Levant Herald, are probably no great readers of the light literature of police regulations.

FASHIONABLE MISERY.—A correspondent says: "The most interesting picture at Saratoga is the ladies in their last decline, and yet they never seem to know when the last season has expired, for, like the gambler when all is gone, they still haunt the shrines of former triumphs. Time blanches their cheeks and wrinkles the face, and the dignity of womanhood is lost in the vain attempt to not let the girl escape. Oh! the sad, sad sorrows of a fashionable woman in the days of her decline, when she sees younger and fairer rivals carrying off the prizes which she has striven so hard to hold during the long years! The gay women of the world, such as flutter at Saratoga, have as little time for reading and reflection as the sister who toils for her bread. One was heard to say, 'I know I am wasting life. If I had genius I would work for fame, but what can I do without it except make myself agreeable? She must have meant attractive to the eye, for the time is spent in eating, drinking, riding, and adorning the person. The poor mind is left to shift for itself."

DR. SCHENCK'S
Pulmonic Syrup, Sea Weed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills.
These medicines have undoubtedly performed more cures of Consumption than any other remedy known to the American public. They are compounded of vegetable ingredients, and contain nothing which can be injurious to the human constitution.
Other remedies advertised as cures for Consumption, probably contain opium, which is a somewhat dangerous drug in all cases, and if taken freely by consumptive patients, it must do great injury; for its tendency is to confine the morbid matter in the system, which of course, must make a cure impossible.
Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is warranted not to contain a particle of opium: It is composed of powerful but harmless herbs, which act on the lungs, liver, stomach and blood, and thus correct all morbid secretions, and expel all the diseased matter from the body. These are the only means by which Consumption can be cured, and as Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Sea Weed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills are the only medicines which operate in this way, it is obvious they are the only genuine cure for Pulmonary Consumption. Each bottle of this invaluable medicine is accompanied by full directions.
Dr. Schenck is professionally at his principal office, corner Sixth and Arch Streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, and at the Quincy House, Boston, on the following Wednesdays, June 10th and 24th, July 8th and 22d, and August 5th and 19th. je8-eod

THE DAY.

The repeated instances of child stealing that have occurred in different parts of the country since Charlie Ross was stolen may be simply coincidences but they suggest that crime is epidemic.

MOULTON'S THIRD.

The New York Graphic shared its corner on Moulton's statements with the Boston Journal and those two papers enjoy the proud pre-eminence of being the first papers to circulate the unwholesome, but perhaps necessary, reading contained in Moulton's third statement. This does not particularly alter the situation of affairs. Moulton reiterates all his previous charges and makes a very clever defence against Beecher's charge of blackmailing. Where he used asterisks in his second statement in this he gives the public a quarter of a column of disgusting details which may or may not be true but of which we have no evidence except Moulton's word, and a man who would keep a known libertine in the pulpit and maintain social relations with a man who talked freely about his revolting crimes might lie when it suited his purpose. We don't say Moulton does lie. On the contrary he tells a very self consistent and plausible story and it may all be true, but most of the testimony in this case is of the second and third generation and Moulton has as much interest as Tilton has in breaking Beecher down. Moulton published another lot of letters, one of the most damaging of which to Beecher is addressed to him by Mrs. Morse. It is true these are very strange letters if there is no crime in the case, but on the other hand, even Moulton's testimony shows that Beecher is a very queer man and one who uses language in a truly remarkable manner. Moulton manages to tell a story that looks like a true one and exercises a very strong influence over the public mind against Beecher but it is very questionable if the testimony so far given would stand in a court of law. Whether it will or not will probably soon be tested and in the meanwhile we beg Moulton and the investigating committee to keep their garbage reservoirs closed and let us breathe a little pure air.

BOOK NOTICES.

THE CIRCULATION OF THE WATERS ON THE SURFACE OF THE EARTH, by H. W. Dove. WHAT IS ACTINISM? Boston, Estes and Lauriat: Newport, Charles E. Hammett, Jr.

These two papers constitute No. 12 of Half Hour Recreations in Natural Science. The first paper gives a great deal of useful information about tides, artesian wells, etc., and from the very brief paper on actinism we learn among other things that seeds will sprout much more rapidly under a blue glass than they will under glass of another color or in the open air.

FROM THE CLOUDS TO THE MOUNTAINS; Comprising Narratives of Strange Adventures by Air, Land and Water. By Jules Verne, translated by A. L. Alger. Boston, William F. Gill & Co., Newport, Charles E. Hammett, Jr.

Jules Verne, the wonderful combiner of fact and fiction, needs no introduction to the public. The hair breadth escapes with the narration of which Othello wooed Desdemona were not a remote circumstance to the marvelous experiences of this apt pupil of the voracious Robinson Crusoe and the imaginative Baron Munchausen. This book contains several independent stories. Dr. Ox is quite recent and has been published by itself. Most of the others were published twenty years ago, before their author had attained his present fame. While they may not be quite equal to his later works they do not injure his reputation and all of them will be read with pleasure by those who enjoy adorned and varnished tales.

NOT IN THEIR SET; or In Different Circles of Society: A novel by Marie Lenzen, translated by M S. Boston, Lee and Shepard: Newport, Charles E. Hammett, Jr.

This story of German life is not characterized by any particular style, which negative characteristic may be a recommendation. The dialogues have the common fault of being rather stilted, but the author is not prolix and, in general, tells her story in a plain and rather interesting manner. The plot is not very deep,—coming events cast distinct shadows some distance before,—but the story is by no means uneventful and while the end is not concealed by an opaque veil the steps by which that end is reached fully keep up the reader's interest. In the very first chapter there is a flirtation between a gentleman of nine Summers and a young lady of two which ripens in a few years into an affection which absence can not weaken and which time only confirms. In the second chapter a beautiful young woman dies of a broken heart. For the benefit of our readers who probably never saw a case of this disease we would mention that doctors in their professional capacity can't cure it. Prussic acid and precipices are standard remedies for it, but it is well to remember that the disease is fatal if let alone and it can not be cured without killing the patient. A second rate scandal occupies a prominent place in the book, but this need not deter readers, for instead of a statement by Mr. Moulton there is advantageously substituted a half page duel from the consequence of which the innocent party dies leaving the rascal to suffer untold agonies from remorse of conscience, which he didn't have, and the kind attentions of a jealous wife, which he did have. All the young men in the book are poor, (we wish we could add that they all were honest,) and all the young women are immensely wealthy. The young men who are too aristocratic to indulge in street begging or highway robbery ask the young women to marry them for the privilege of paying their debts and the debts of their fathers and the young women who wouldn't give a thaler to a pauper promptly gave several thousands of them to their impecunious suitors. It is a pity for poor young men that this book is not perfectly true to nature. All the characters, male and female, have a habit of suddenly turning pale that would greatly stimulate the rouge trade were it a characteristic of real people. On the whole the novel is an interesting one and it teaches this important practical lesson, that a penniless girl who is not in the same set with a wealthy youth becomes his social equal and a very desirable match for him when her uncle leaves her a fortune and he becomes a bankrupt,—a bar sinister on her coat of arms to the contrary notwithstanding.

.....The Haverhill Daily Bulletin thinks that General Butler is the best man for Congress in the sixth district. The editor of the Haverhill Daily Bulletin is one of the Boston custom-house employes whose office was not abolished. The Salem Register says: "If the opponents of General Butler wish to secure the nomination of some other candidate by the republican district convention, it is best for them to unite upon some one. It appears now that the prominent persons named are General William Cogswell and Willard P. Phillips, Esq. If Salem would unite on either of these gentlemen, we believe the convention could be carried for that one. As at present advised, General Cogswell appears to be one most likely to secure the delegation from Salem. If so, we trust that the friends of Mr. Phillips will be as ready to work for Mr. Cogswell as his friends would be to give their influence for Mr. Phillips if the case were reversed."

There have been some decided popular demonstrations in England of late against the vaccination laws.

The Michigan Democratic state convention adopted resolutions demanding adequate punishment for all officials guilty of corruption and embezzlement, the repeal of the press gang law, the reservation of the remaining public lands for union soldiers, sailors and actual settlers; the repeal of the legal tender act not later than July 4, 1875, and a specie basis, and free banks with a secured currency, a tariff for revenue only, the payment of all forms of national debt in coin or its equivalent when due, and an equal and just distribution of taxes on imports required to raise the needed revenue.

Judge Edmunds, secretary of the national Republican Congressional committee has written a letter to Postmaster Filley, of St. Louis, in regard to the people's party movement in Missouri. The letter is not official and does not assume to express the views of the committee, though there is no doubt but a large number of that body will approve of them. Judge Edmunds says in substance that while as a general rule he believes in voting the Republican ticket "straight," there are exceptions where a different course is proper, and under the present circumstances he is inclined to believe that the Republicans of Missouri have acted with wisdom, and that the first duty of Republicans there is to rescue the state of secession, Democratic rule; and the present course, he thinks, gives fair promise of accomplishing this.

The call for a convention of Republicans of the reconstructed states, to be held at Chattanooga on the 10th of October, is being widely signed by prominent Republicans. The call says:—

All Republicans, whether of those or of other states, who still earnestly seek to maintain the principles on which the Union was defended, and to inaugurate which in the South reconstruction was begun, and who feel an interest in the preservation of law, order and the rights of citizenship, are invited to attend this consultation and should come possessed of facts as to the true condition in their respective localities, so that an authoritative statement may be made to the country. The Republicans of the South equally with the good citizens of the other sections demand peace and security, that prosperity may follow. Why these are not enjoyed by them should be made manifest by this convention. If there are those who doubt as to the purposes or capacity of southern Republicans, or who believe that the oppressions under which they are laboring have been magnified, let them come and see and hear for themselves.

A TELESCOPE FOR THE ROGERS HIGH SCHOOL.—The want of a telescope which has been for some time felt in the high school has been supplied by the generosity of Mrs. Henry A. Humphrey of Boston in the name of her late husband. The telescope was made by the great optical instrument makers, Alvah Clark & Sons of Cambridge, Mass. It has a four inch object glass and a focal length of six feet. It has one eye piece for astronomical work, another for work on the surface of the earth, a third for taking observations on the zenith and a fourth for observing the sun. The telescope is provided with a finder to facilitate the direction of the instrument at any object and is handsomely and substantially mounted on a black walnut tripod. It is a valuable addition to the apparatus of the high school.

STATE MISCELLANY.

Deputy State Constable A. B. Burdick, assisted by officers James W. Millard and Courtland Gavitt, paid an official visit to Cross's Mills, in Charlestown, Tuesday about noon. Their visit was a complete surprise in that little village, long cursed with the sale of liquors. The force arrested under warrants issued by Trial Justice M. S. Green, under complaint of Deputy Constable Burdick, John J. Hopkins and Joseph C. Church, for maintaining common nuisances. These respondents recognized before Justice Charles Cross, to appear for examination before Justice Green on Tuesday, the 15th. The premises of both Hopkins and Church were searched; a small quantity of the ardent was found with the former which was carefully preserved by the officers. No liquors remained on the premises of Church to reward the diligent search of the constable. "Stirring up the hornets," "casting out the devils," were some of the salutations of the delighted people as the force passed them.

Whatever may be the ultimate results of the prohibitory and constabulary acts, it cannot be denied that up to this time their working has been rather salutary. There may be as much liquor drank in private club rooms and other out-of-the-way places as formerly, but if it is so the dealers are clearly taking pains to keep their workmanship out of sight. There has not been for years such an exemption from the indecencies of intoxication in our streets and the highways of our villages as we have enjoyed for the last two months. Possibly, the greatest benefit to be derived from these laws may be the immunity from outward and rampant disorder. But even this is a boon to be thankful for. It is pleasant to observe that thus far the good wishes of the public go with the state authorities.—[Providence Journal.

WOONSOCKET.—To those who have been accustomed to visit our annual fairs, on entering the park a noticeable difference between this and former years is at once manifest. Everything seems to be on a larger scale, as though greater things were expected and provision made accordingly. Looking into Benton's tented restaurant, one sees at a glance the great improvement over past years in the means of serving food: everything neat and clean, with professional cooks who command high wages, and waiters who know what they are doing. The first day the chowder, (than which no better was ever made, to our knowledge,) and one or two other things gave out, but only to show that it was necessary to provide in abundance for the succeeding days; but no one was obliged to go hungry who had a moderate amount of scrip.

Secondly, there has been a much larger influx of dealers and exhibitors of small wares and all appear to be doing a thriving business. The hurdy gurdy player and imitator of beasts and birds, who has entertained so many people on the river boats the past season, is here finishing up his Summer job by drawing smiles and currency from the crowd.

No drunken people have been seen on the ground yet, and the best of order prevails of itself. Three persons were sent to the lock-up today for gaining access to the park in an unlawful manner, and we would remind all so inclined that they will find it cheaper and more comfortable to enter by the straight gate and pay the small admission fee.

It is only a few minutes dust in getting to the grounds, and once there, all find it cool and comfortable. There was a largely increased attendance this afternoon, but there was plenty of room for all. Out-of-doors is a large place, but if any one steps on your corns there is a man ready to cure them, and all for nothing.

Mr. E. M. Brayton, formerly of this city, now a practicing lawyer in Augusta, Georgia, resides at Aiken, S. C., just over the state line. A short time ago he was witness to a horrible lynching of a negro murderer in the public square at Augusta, and exercised a freeman's privilege of speaking in terms of condemnation of the act. The next day he got warning from a self-constituted committee of the chivalry to leave the city forthwith. Arming himself with a couple of revolvers he remained at his post, put forth a card in the newspaper explaining his conduct, and the result was that he was not only let alone, but in a few days received the congratulations of many of the best citizens, who acknowledged his grit and commended his course, among whom was one prominent Democratic lawyer, who boldly defended him in the paper.—[Fall River News.

SENSE ON THE SITUATION.

Some recent articles in the Daily Graphic on the Southern states have attracted widespread attention in those regions. We have already published several of the responses, and today give several more. The Southern papers are disposed to compliment us on the boldness of our utterances at the expense of other Northern journals which are afraid to take a position respecting the political situation at the South. But the logic of events is educating public opinion, and the press will soon see that the position we were the first to occupy is the one to which the nation must come at last. The fact is, the old reconstruction policy was a blunder. Putting the lowest stratum of society at the top is not good statesmanship. It would have been better for the South had the nation stripped the leading rebels of their property at once, rather than subject the whole population of the Southern states to a process of spoliation and robbery such as has been in operation ever since the reconstruction laws were passed. The radicals who insisted that the South should be kept as territories and under military rule for a few years, until society in those states had adjusted itself to the new conditions, were wiser statesmen than the pottering constitutional lawyers and state rights fanatics who, for the sake of an abstraction, have preserved the autonomy of the states at the expense of their material prosperity. The robbery, fraud, idleness, and crime now prevailing in the Southern states under the control of the blacks are a scandal to the nation. The resentful feeling on the part of Southern whites is but natural. It may be very wrong to resort to violence when one's purse is in danger, but it is very human nevertheless. It is idle folly to talk about a convention to settle a difficulty of this kind. The Constitution as it is gives power enough to the federal government, through its military arm, to interfere and extend to the Southern states the blessings of peace, order, and prosperity.—[N. Y. Graphic.

RELIGIOUS READING.

THE RELIGIOUS NEED OF THE AGE.—If there is a conception of God and of Jesus Christ which will be able all through the next fifty years to battle against the new forms of atheism rising above the horizon, it is the conception of God as a Father, wise, loving and lovable. This alone will prove equal to this grave task. God must not be an intellectual belief only, much less a mere tyrant, but he must be enthroned in the heart as the blessed source of its life and the foundation of all grand hopes beyond. God and heaven must be made so lovable that science cannot pluck them from the soil. Yesterday, there came to me words from three human hearts. Two were letters from persons who had been infidels all through life, but who now in older years confess that a loving God is building up in their hearts a longing for immortality. The third message was from a mother who wished me to bury her only child, called from her home in its sixth year. She said: "I look to our Heavenly Father and find perfect peace." This is the picture of God and of Christ that will meet atheism all along, and will make the banner of our Lord wave above our race at last, when the colors of atheism shall have faded and been torn by storms from the staff. The Bible long ago defined God as being Love, and says also that God so loved the world as to send his Son, and hence all the present contemplation of the Deity as being a friend is only a rising up of mankind to reach the grand truth of the holy book. After eighteen hundred years, years of imperfection and often wild madness as to the nature of the Creator, a want has sprung up for the very God called Love so long ago. Theory all aside as to causes of the phenomenon, the fact stands that our age deeply needs this Heavenly Father. It will waive all questions that are simply strange or perplexing, will confess the limitations of knowledge, and will hold fast to the Infinite One, if it can only feel that he is a Father loving a world, or a Christ redeeming a world.—[David Swing.

OUR RELATION TO GOD PERSONAL.—The doctrine of the personality of God involves and implies the personal relation to him of every human being; and this is at once an exalted privilege and a high responsibility. We can neither understand nor enjoy the one while seeking to evade the other. Each human soul is directly and personally related to God, as a child to a father. It is created in his image and likeness, and fitted for conscious personal intercourse with him: and such intercourse is as indispensable to its life and normal growth as food is to the sustenance of the body, or as the light and warmth of the sun are to the growth of vegetation from the earth's bosom. For this intercourse with God there is and can be no substitute. There is no power in any priesthood or church, and no efficacy in any ceremony or ordinance, however ancient, or however freighted with sacred associations, that can supersede it. Nay, the very effort to find a substitute for it is an affront to God, an impious attempt to evade a sacred and solemn responsibility. And when priesthoods and churches, which can only justify their existence as helps to the soul in its efforts to find and enjoy God, place themselves between that soul and its Maker, and seek to impose themselves upon it as the exclusive channels of Divine influence and the authorized purveyors of the Divine favor, they become an offense in the sight of God, "the abomination of desolation in the holy place." Churches may indeed guide the soul, bewildered and wandering, to God, as light houses may guide the mariner on a rock bound coast; but as lighthouses do not supersede the personal responsibility of mariners, so neither can churches relieve their members of the necessity of finding God for themselves, and opening their hearts to the direct influence of the Divine Spirit.—[Christian Union.

DIVINITY A LIFE, NOT A SCIENCE.—To seek our divinity merely in books and writings, is to seek the living among the dead; we do but in vain seek God many times in these, where his truth too often is not so much enshrined as entombed. That is not the best and truest knowledge of God which is wrought out by the labor and sweat of the brain, but that which is kindled within us by an heavenly warmth in our hearts. When the tree of knowledge is not planted by the tree of life, and sucks not up sap from thence, it may be as well fruitful with evil as with good, and bring forth bitter fruit as well as sweet. If we would indeed have our knowledge thrive and flourish, we must water the tender plants of it with holiness. It is but a thin, airy knowledge which is ushered in by syllogisms and demonstrations, but that which springs forth from true goodness brings such a divine light into the soul as is more clear and convincing than any demonstration. The reason why, notwithstanding all our acute reasons and subtle disputes, truth prevails no more in the world, is, we so often disjoin truth and true goodness, which in themselves can never be disunited. They grow both from the same root, and live in one another. While we lodge any filthy vice in us, this will be perpetually twisting up itself into the thread of our finest-spun speculations; it will twine about our judgments and understandings, till it hath sucked out the life and spirit of them.—[Dr. John Smith.

PIETY AND MORALITY.—The whole life of a religious man falls into two grand divisions and all his actions belong to the one or the other. The one is the region of piety, the other the region of morality. They ought not to be, and cannot be separated in any man's life; but they can be distinguished though not separated. Piety cannot exist without morality, nor morality without piety yet they are not the same thing. United they make up religion, or the whole life of a Christian. The region of morality is under the law; it is a stern and rugged clime, a land of restraint, of effort, of struggle, of battle. The performance of duty, the doing the work of the Lord, this is the problem of morality. If our aim be the perfection of our moral nature, we may set about it in two ways. We may make direct attempts for the cultivation of certain virtues, for the repression of certain vices, taking them up one by one as a matter of discipline. Or we may labor on the whole instead of the parts, by living in the Spirit, near to God and Christ, and so learning also to walk in the Spirit. Both methods are good, but the second is the most thorough. It is the method of nature, which works upon all parts of the plant at the same time, by filling the whole with life. The great thing needed for moral development is more vital power. Love will make all things new. A profound influence in the centre of the soul will cause all parts of life to bud and blossom and bear fruit. But what can we do when the door of the heart is closed to God by sin, and the soul is left barren, cold, empty, incapable of any true virtue? We cannot by an act of the will create within the heart Christian sentiments and graces; we cannot by moral effort create within the soul generosity or love. What can we do? We can open the door; we can let God's influence come into the heart to lead us to Christ, to give us a sense of his pardoning love, to lift us to a higher plane of conviction. And this is prayer in its most essential nature.—[J. F. Clarke.

NO EXCUSE FOR BEING SICK.

☞No person can use Boschee's German Syrup without getting immediate relief and cure. We have the first case of Coughs, Colds or consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs, yet to hear from that has not been cured. We have distributed every year for three years over 250,000 sample bottles by druggists in all parts of the United States. No other Manufacturer of Medicine ever gave their Preparations such a test as this. Go to your Druggist James H. Taylor and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Two doses will relieve you.

☞A lively trade is kept up at the 99 cent store in Cottrell block. They are constantly receiving new goods and every article is well worth the price charged. Tapestry mats are selling fast. Nothing sold over 99cts. aug12

☞Dyspepsia, indigestion, headache, sourness, or acidity of the stomach, cured by Milk of Magnesia. It is by far the most effective and agreeable aperient and antacid known, and only needs a trial on your part to prove this. Caswell, Hazzard & Co., Agents. aug27-1m

DR. HICKNELL'S SYRUP

Cures Bowel or Summer Complaints.

Being composed largely of Brandy, Spices and simple astringents, without a particle of Opiate, has proved after a 25 years' trial superior to any other article for Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Cholera-Morbus, Cholera-Infantum, Colic, Cramp, Sick or Sour Stomach, Sea-Sickness, Dyspepsia, &c., and may be implicitly relied upon in the most severe cases, yet so simple and pleasant that it may be given the most delicate infant. It acts upon the system like water on a wilted plant.

PIMPLES AND HUMORS ON THE FACE.—In this condition of the skin, the VEGETINE is the great remedy as it acts directly upon the cause. It cleanses and purifies the blood, thereby causing humors of all kinds to disappear.

☞The nausea, heart-burn, and constipation which are among the most distressing attendants of pregnancy have been found easily managed by the administration of an occasional dose of Milk of Magnesia, which is now regarded as the friend alike of infants and mothers. What is the Matter with You?

If a friend is looking sick, this is usually the question we put to him. It is asked everywhere, times innumerable, every day. And what are the most frequent answers to it? Are they not such as these: "Well I'm a little bililous," or "I feel languid and used up," or "My stomach is out of order," or "I'm under the weather," or "I don't know what's the matter with me, but I don't feel right," or the like indefinite responses. Now, what is the matter with the thousands of both sexes who cannot tell exactly what ails them, and yet are evidently out of health? The matter is simply this: they don't properly digest what they eat, their livers are torpid, their nerves are weak, their blood is impure, and their vital energies are depressed. What they need is a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters—not one or two doses, but a course—to strengthen their stomachs, superinduce a healthy flow of bile, steady and invigorate their nerves, improve the condition of their blood, and rouse their vital powers. These results the great vegetable restorative will assuredly bring about. It rallies the whole system, reinforces every important organ, regulates every function, and purifies every animal fluid. For chronic dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, intermittent and remittent fevers, rheumatism, general debility, premature decay, and the infirmities of age, it is the best and safest stimulant and alterative that has ever been compounded. Its ingredients are all vegetable, all pure and wholesome. In districts infested with swamp miasma, and in all new settlements, its use is essential to the preservation of health. The West believes in it, and so, in fact, do the people of all sections of the Union.

GENERAL NEWS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

General Sherman on the Employment of the Military Power.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 11.

General Sherman expresses himself very freely in regard to the proposal to use the military in the South at the present. He is an ardent believer in the effectiveness of a posse comitatus and an honest jury trial, and thinks the military power should only be employed as a last resort. He thinks the matter of preserving order might better be left to the civil authorities, and that the army should be employed only in the most extreme cases. At best the army can only arrest and turn over to the civil authorities, and their conviction depends upon the sentiments of the community in which the offence is committed. Only when martial law is proclaimed can the army be made effective, and Congress has taken from the President the power to declare it. If the matter should go into open armed opposition, Congress could be called to vote men and supplies, and the trouble could be regularly suppressed.

FROM NEW YORK.

The Pork Packers Quarrel.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.

A special from Louisville says the conflict between the pork packers and provision dealers culminated today, in the dissolution of the national organization. Chicago and Cincinnati and St. Louis representatives were the main elements of discord, and their victory is complete. The pork packers alone will assemble in the latter city, Oct. 5th, to deliberate on questions which should have been settled by this meeting. All that has been done by the body on the subject of packing, little as it is, is only of a temporary character, likely to be undone by the packers at St. Louis. The banquet this evening was all that held the delegates here today. It was a grand affair. The New York delegation will leave for home in the morning, and arrive on Saturday evening.

Two Children Abducted in New York.

Shortly after 10 o'clock this forenoon, an unknown man coaxed two children named James Burns and Elizabeth Finnegan, aged respectively 3 and 2 years, away from their home, No. 308 East Twenty-sixth street. They were subsequently seen in Second avenue walking with a man and woman.

The Terrible Cyclone off Newfoundland.

Steamers arriving at this port yesterday and last night, confirm the report of the Ville du Paris, about a terrible cyclone or hurricane, off the banks of Newfoundland on Monday last. No serious damage was done so far as heard.

Plymouth Church Prayer Meeting.

There was a large attendance at the weekly prayer meeting tonight in Plymouth church. Hymns were sung, bearing, most of them, on the church's trouble, and nearly all the speakers, in prayers or addresses, referred to the absent pastor with unaltered affection and confidence. Brother Halliday, who presided, delivered an address in conversational style on the story in Matthew xv, of the Phœnician woman. Brother Cleveland, who has recently seen Mr. Beecher in the country, informed the congregation that their pastor was cheerful and unmoved by the slanders, and was coming back October 1st to resume his duties with greater efficiency than ever. One gentleman prayed that Beecher's enemies might be put to shame.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Collision at Sea.

PORTLAND, ME., Sept. 11.

Steamer Lewiston, when off Seguin last night, came into collision with schooner Paragon, of Deer Isle, cutting off the schooner's stern and sinking her immediately. The crew consisting of an old man and two boys, were rescued by the steamer's boats. The schooner had her lights set wrong, which made her appear to be sailing contrary to her real course.

The South Carolina Republicans.

COLUMBUS, S. C., Sept 11.

The Republican state convention was engaged all day in discussing the report of the committee on credentials, which was presented today, after being under consideration three days by them. Chamberlain and Patterson are once more in ascendancy. Nothing definite is likely to be done tonight.

Temperance Nominations.

The state temperance convention met at Lincoln yesterday. The following nominations were made: For Congress, J. G. Miller; contingent Congressman, J. R. Fairbanks; secretary of state, J. S. Church; state treasurer, W. G. Ollinger.

Collision on the Great Eastern Railway.

LONDON, Sept. 11.

A terrific collision occurred this morning on the Great Eastern Railway near Norwich. Thirty persons were killed outright and fifty wounded, some of whom are very badly hurt, and additional deaths are expected every hour. The railway line is completely blocked by the debris of the wrecked trains. The scene at the place of the collision is described as terrible. The cries of the wounded were heartrending.

The Trenton Jail Outrage.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 11.

The parties arrested at Pickotville, by United States soldiers, on charges of complicity in the Trenton outrage, will not arrive here until this afternoon. They will be taken before the United States commissioner for examination. Another of the negroes taken from the jail, and who escaped, is here; but under the advice of United States officials he and his companions refuse to communicate anything in regard to the affair beyond the fact that they escaped when the six men were shot near Trenton.

The Fires in the New Jersey Woods—Loss $20,000.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 11.

The fire in the woods, north of Atason, New Jersey, has been subdued. The one in the south was burning all night, and another to the east started yesterday, causing much alarm to the residents of Atason, as the wind is bringing the fire towards the town. The fires near Elwood are out. Five cranberry meadows, one house and ten thousand acres of pine and oak timber have been destroyed. The fires near Egg Harbor are also subdued, and no further damage is anticipated. Seven acres of cranberry meadows, several thousand acres of timber, and the large steam saw mill of S. Crowley, were burned. Whole loss $20,000.

The Temperance Camp Meeting at Old Orchard Beach.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 11.

There was a large attendance at the temperance meeting to-day and the exercises were interesting. The chief feature of the day was the grand rally on the beach at which many people were present. The exercises consisted of prayers and exhortation. A little dissension was caused at the morning session by an attempt to prevent Mrs. F. R. Lawrence, of Boston, from speaking. It is claimed that she holds advanced views in social and religious questions, and many Christians objected to hearing her speak. After a time she was choked off by the chairman. Many of the speakers today took strong ground in favor of woman suffrage as a powerful auxiliary in the temperance reform.

A children's meeting was held at 1 o'clock. The attendance was not large.

At a meeting of the National Meeting Association, Rev. W. H. Booth was elected Corresponding Secretary, and the names of J. W. Hitchcock, of New Hampshire; Hon. Charles Parker, of Connecticut; W. D. Hilton and Mrs. S. B. Spinney, of Rhode Island; Miss Julia Barber, of New York; Rev. Giles Bailey and Mrs. Annie Wittenmeyer, of Pennsylvania, were added to the lists of Vice Presidents. The camp meeting will break up Monday morning.

Gen. Custer's Final Official Report.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 11.

Gen. Custer's final official report to Gen. Terry recapitulates his former statements, and takes strong ground in favor of the immediate opening of the Black Hills, for military reasons. He endorses the report of gold discoveries, and suggests further explorations next season. Nevertheless, Professors Winchell and Donaldson assert that Gen. Custer does not know of his own knowledge that any color of gold was found in the Black Hills.

The Blue and the Grey.

VICKSBURG, Sept. 11.

Several days ago a call for a meeting of former soldiers of the Union and Confederate armies was published, stating that the purpose was to foster and encourage kindly relations between the soldiers of the late war, and to form a bond of mutual friendship and good feeling. The several preliminary meetings held were attended by representatives of both armies, those of the Union army residents of this city being nearly equal in numbers to those of the Confederate army. At a meeting last night the body formed itself into an association to be known as "the "Order of the Blues and Grays." Speeches were delivered indicative of the utmost good feeling and relief at this public acknowledgment of a break in the dark cloud of prejudice which had been oppressing all alike.

The International Law Association.

GENEVA, Sept. 11.

The international law association, which has been in session here this week, closed its proceedings today, with a public meeting, at which over 3,000 persons were present. D. D. Field, of New York, made a speech explaining the objects of the association, which he said were to obviate the necessity of war. Henry Richard and Pere Hyacinthe also addressed the meeting. The association has held its sittings in the rooms occupied by the board of arbitration on the Alabama claims. Before adjournment, Count Sclopis telegraphed his acceptance of the presidency of the association.

Attempt to Decoy Away a Quebec Child.

QUEBEC, Sept. 11.

Two Italians, recently from New York, have been arrested for decoying away a little son of James Patton, with the evident intention of blackmailing the father.

Seizures of Arms at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11.

Six more cases of muskets, per steamship City of Dallas from New York, were seized by the police on the levee today. Two hundred and eighty-eight stand of arms, mostly of foreign make, have been seized up to date on plea of their being intended to arm the White League clubs in this city. Some of the arms seized, it is stated, were entered on the steamer's manifest as boots and shoes and others as hardware.

A COW INDEED.—The New Bedford Mercury says: "A good story is told of Judge P. of Vermont, well known as a pronounced teetotaler, to illustrate the value of some men's professions. Invited to attend some agricultural festival, the judge was asked upon his arrival if he would have a glass of milk, and upon responding 'yes,' was proffered a glass of what looked like milk, but was in fact most potent milk punch. Taking a sip at first, the Judge soon returned to the glass and drained it to the bottom, when he returned it to his entertainer, with the exclamation, 'Lord, what a cow!'"

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1874.

A STORY ABOUT TOOLE.—Toole tells another amusing story with regard to his make-up. The incident occurred one night when he was playing for a benefit at Sadler's Wells. He performed at the Surrey theatre and at the Adelphi on the same evening, and as may be imagined, had little time to lose in dressing, etc. However his work over at the Surrey and the Adelphi, he left the latter establishment, taking a cab in order to be driven to Sadler's Wells. He entered the cab as Mr. Spriggs—an old man—the character in "Ici on Parle Francais," which he had just been playing, and to the cabman's intense surprise, when he opened the door of his vehicle for his fare to dismount at the stage entrance of Sadler's Wells the popular attire of Master Grimidge, in the "Green Bushes, met his eye. There was, of course, no vestige of old Mr. Spriggins in the cab. "What have you done with the old man?" cried the startled cabman, frightened at his sudden disappearance. "Where's the old man?" Hereupon Toole explained to him how that he and the old man were one and the same person, held out a liberal fare and told him that they were waiting for him on the stage inside the theatre. But the cabman was for a long time obdurate. He thought that some unfair play had been transacted, and refused to let his fare go, calling on him continually to produce the "old man!" The disturbance might have been indefinitely prolonged had not some of the theatrical officials come outside to look for the recreant actor, and found him struggling between the cabman and the appreciative crowd. Of course a release was effected and Toole was taken in triumph on the stage.—The Illustrated Review.

THE WEATHER.—Practical meteorology still goes on, throughout the length and breadth of the United States; the results of observations are made known twice a day by telegraph. The British meteorological office, Victoria street, Westminister, is in connection with observatories that stretch from Norway to Spain, including the intervening countries. At one hundred and twenty stations round the British Isles, storm-signals are displayed; and one hundred and eighteen standard barometers are placed for the use of fishermen at the most important fishing stations. More than a thousand volunteer observers, with rain-gauges true to the 1500th of an inch, are helping Mr. G. J. Symons to keep a proper account of British rainfall; and they may take to themselves the assurance that the value of the work will be more and more recognized.—[Chamber's Journal.

Advice to Bird Owners.

VERMIN.

A GREAT trouble to birds in confinement, are insects, (small lice, of a reddish color), which often cause the death of a bird, though persons do not know what is the matter with them. They are generally produced by uncleanliness, and will, particularly in a wooden cage, increase very fast. The symptoms are, that when the bird during the day is observed to be often picking itself, and the wing and shoulders becoming bald, the crevices and joinings of their cage becoming dirty outside. The insects hide themselves during the day, in these crevices &c., creep out at night, crawl up to the birds and torment them most unmercifully. They will suck the blood out of them and prevent the poor things from resting all night. The bird thus tormented, will appear dull and heavy during the day; ceases singing and if relief be not given them, it very often causes their death.

The above malady may be remedied by procuring a package of the GERMAN INSECT DESTROYING POWDER.

Cholera Threatens.

Every Household Should Keep the Remedy on Hand.

The late Rev. Dr. Granger repeatedly expressed his belief that he owed his life to the timely use of the "PAIN-KILLER." During his visit o the Missions in Burmah he had a severe attack of the cholera, and was immediately relieved by the use of the "PAIN-KILLER."

Perry Davis'

PAIN-KILLER,

Is the Universal Remedy

FOR

Summer Complaints and Dysentery.

Bowel complaints seem just now to be the prevailing ailment, and any medicine that is everywhere obtainable and that is reliable is a very desirable acquisition. From what we have seen, heard, and experienced, we believe DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER," is this desideratum. For the best method of using it, we quote from the directions:

"For common bowel complaints give one teaspoonful of the "PAIN-KILLER" in a gill of new milk and molasses, in equal parts, stirred well together; lessen the dose for children according to the age. If the pain be severe, bathe the bowels and back with the "PAIN-KILLER." This mode of treatment is good in cases of the cholera-morbus, sudden stoppages, etc. Let the dose be repeated every hour, until the patient is relieved."

From foreign countries the calls for "PAIN-KILLER" are great. It is found to Cure Cholera When all Other Remedies Fail.

Every housekeeper should keep it on hand, to apply it on the first attack of any pain. It will give satisfactory relief, and save hours of suffering. Directions accompany each bottle.

Price 25c., 50c., and $1 per Bottle.

COUGHS, SORE THROAT, INFLUENZA, WHOOPING COUGH, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, and every affection of the THROAT, LUNGS and CHEST, are speedily and permanently cured by the use of DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY which does not dry up a cough and leave the cause behind, but loosens it, cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED

by a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials it has received. The genuine is signed "I. Butts" on the wrapper. SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, Proprietors, Boston, Mass. Sold by dealers generally.

The blazing rays of Sirius, or Dog
Affect the eyes while on the street.
And really this is why
So many colored glasses pass you by:
Do your eyes feel tired or strange or weak?
It is the rest, beneath the shade they seek.
"Protect us," then they seem to say
With colored glasses through the day.
"All shades, assorted, can be seen
"Of London smoke, and blue, and green.
"At 26 Washington Square
"The only Opticians, you'll find him there."
We note the reply of Moses to Aaron
Of colored glasses as "the fashion to wear 'em"
